NAMELESS NIGHT

GM Ford's Nameless Night was released in February by Morrow, featuring Paul Hardy who has lost his memory, and finds it and himself in a group home for the disabled. Ford is also the author of the popular and critically acclaimed Leo Waterman and Frank Corso series. The latest Corso mystery is Blown Away (2006), with this review by Publishers Weekly: "In the gritty sixth Frank Corso novel, Ford makes clever use of an actual 2003 unsolved case to create a pulse-pounding plot capped by a dramatic and chilling ending."

Also joining GM Ford on May 9 is Skye Moody, author of the Venus Diamond mysteries. Diamond is an undercover agent for the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, active in Pacific Northwest so the settings are familiar and the plots engaging.

"Venus Diamond is...a rare gem."
